Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 10/06/05 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2,3,7,8,13,16,1920,24,25,29-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Scholten et al. (5,108,404) in view of Preissman (6,383,190).

With respect to claims 2, 32, Scholten et al disclose a system comprising: an access tool or cannula(30) sized and configured to establish an access path through soft tissue to bone having an interior volume occupied, at least in part by cancellous bone, a void forming tool (76) sized and configured to be introduced through the access path to form a void in cancellous bone, a nozzle; as set forth in column 7, lines 45-47, sized and configured to pass through the access path and including an interior bore defining a fixed interior volume to receive and deliver a measured volume filling material into the void; as set forth in column 7, lines 45-68.

Although Scholten et al teach of a of advancing material through the nozzle, it is noted that Scholten et al. did not teach of a an auxiliary tool sized and configured to be advanced through the interior bore and urge filling material from the nozzle; as claimed by applicant. However, in a similar art, Preissman evidences the use of an auxiliary tool sized to apply pressure to a measured implantable material through a cannula and deliver the material to a desired site.

Therefore, given the teaching of Preissman, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate an auxiliary tool in the device of Scholten et al; as taught by Preissman to apply pressure to a measured implantable material through a cannula and deliver the material to a desired site.

With respect to claims 3,7,8,13,16,19,20,24,25,29-31,33-36, the above combination of references teaches all the limitations; as set forth in Scholten et al., column 4, lines 23-68, column 5-8, lines 1-68, column 9, lines 1-31, and as best seen in FIGS. 1-34 of Scholten et al., and as set forth in columns 3-5, lines 1-67, and as best seen in FIGS.1-23 of Preissman.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
